Admissions Policy

Art is not only a fundamental force that has nurtured humanity up to this point in time, but also a force of unknown potential to open up new avenues for the future.

Tama Art University respects the power of the arts that has established traditions, and supports the power of the arts to transform itself for an unknown future. We creatively synthesize artistic tradition and artistic innovation.

The arts will be deeply involved in an increasing number of fields (medical care, information, industry, corporate management, space development, artificial intelligence, etc.) and will play an important role at the intersection of these fields. The arts have the power to creatively connect various fields. By boldly crossing the boundaries between art and design, technology and theory, and synthesizing various fields of expression in a new dimension, art will be renewed (innovated).

Doctoral Degree Program in Graduate School of Art and Design

The doctoral degree program in Tama Art University Graduate School of Art and Design is seeking individuals who are not only independent creators and researchers of art, but are capable of opening up new pathways in the future of art and the unknown possibilities of art, and creating new value in the arts, and those who will become global leaders and instructors in the field of art.

Therefore, the entrance examination for the doctoral degree program will test whether the applicant can not only demonstrate various abilities as an expressive person in their area of specialization, but also whether they can create a new field of expression itself, and whether they can express, research, and teach at an international level. In addition to creating value, they must also be able to pass that value on to future generations, in other words, they must be creative in their ability to educate. The results must be presented to society widely in the form of world-class works, books, etc., that mark an era and must be returned to the public.

Applicants who have completed a master's degree (master's program) or have an equivalent qualification are eligible to take the examination.

Selection Method

In the primary selection, document screening is performed based on the research plan, a summary of the master's thesis or equivalent, portfolio (practical course applicants), list of research achievements (thesis only applicants), and submitted documents (including the results of language and certification examinations). For applicants who have passed the primary selection, secondary selection is performed based on their submitted thesis, submitted artwork (only for practical course applicants), and oral examination.

Concept of Entrance Examination

We aim to nurture human resources for future leadership positions with broad insight and skills in all aspects of art and design, and to nurture artists and art theorists with the ability to make comprehensive judgments that can respond to significant advances in academic research and social change. We require applicants to submit theses and works (only for practical course applicants) to examine the applicants' research ability in each of the subdivided areas, as well as to submit a research plan and to take an oral examination in order to examine the balance in relation to their comprehensive academic fields.

Number of Students to be Admitted

Art Major

Instructions for Entrance Examination Applicants

Tama Art University administers its entrance examinations strictly to ensure that all applicants can demonstrate their abilities in a fair and impartial environment. To prevent any misconduct that could compromise the fairness of the examinations, the following guidelines have been established. Please read the following information carefully and adhere strictly to these rules when taking the examination.

Acts that may be deemed misconduct:

1. Cases involving forgery, false statements, imitation or infringement of the rights of others in the information, documents or materials submitted at the time of application.
2. The following acts during the examination:
 - (a) Cheating by concealing or attaching reference materials (including self-prepared materials) to permitted items;
 - (b) Use of stationery, equipment or tools that are not authorised for use;
 - (c) Using communication devices, such as mobile phones, at unauthorised times;
 - (d) Failure to place communication devices, such as mobile phones, in the designated envelope (including cases where the candidate possesses multiple devices);
 - (e) Failure to follow the instructions of the examiner;
 - (f) Conduct that causes inconvenience to other examinees.
 - (g) Taking the exam by impersonating the applicant (e.g. having a substitute take the exam).
 - (h) Peeking at or copying another examinee's answers.
 - (i) Any other conduct that undermines the fairness of the exam.

In cases of suspected misconduct, the following measures may be taken:

- A warning from the exam proctor
- An interview by the exam proctor or other authorised personnel
- Requiring the student to place any materials or personal items suspected of being used for misconduct into their bag or similar container
- Inspection of materials or personal items suspected of being used for misconduct (whether during or after the exam), and photographing them for the purpose of preserving evidence
- Confirmation of possession of communication devices, such as mobile phones, during times when their use is not permitted
- Presentation of identification documents (e.g., passport, My Number Card, driver's license) may be required for identity verification.
- Additional Verification

If the university determines that misconduct has occurred, the following measures may be taken:

- Prohibition from taking entrance examinations for all departments, majors and courses at the university for the current academic year (the entrance examination fee will not be refunded); and
- Disqualification of results from all entrance examinations at the university for the current academic year.

Terms and Conditions for Submission of Work

For practical applicants, please bring in and submit your work in accordance with the following terms and conditions*.

Common matters

- Works must be installed within the space designated in the venue (300 cm in height × 360cm in width × 360cm in depth). Please note that the venue entrance measures approximately 260cm in height and 270cm in width.
- The walls of the venue may not be used directly, except in the case of setting a large work against the wall. Use pre-loaned perforated panels in place of walls.
- The lighting of the venue cannot be adjusted.
- You cannot hang your artwork from the ceiling.
- When using equipment, please prepare a clearly written instruction manual on how to operate the equipment and submit it to the staff on the day of submission of the work.
- No work may be installed at heights greater than 2 meters (only one stepladder is provided on each floor. When you use a stepladder, you must arrange an assistant to accompany you.)
- Please provide protection and cover as necessary to prevent damage to facilities and fixtures.
- The University will not be responsible for any damage or accident caused by natural disasters or other force majeure.
- With the exception of the equipment loaned by the University (see below), you may not borrow any equipment or tools to be used for submitting artwork, and you need to prepare them in advance.
- No modification (drilling, nailing, riveting, etc.) of equipment loaned by the University is allowed.
- Please complete the submission within the prescribed time and have it checked by the staff before leaving the examination site.
- No shooting with cameras or video cameras is allowed in the venue, even if the subject is your own artwork.

Precautions for submitting three-dimensional works

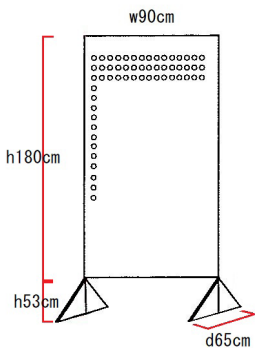

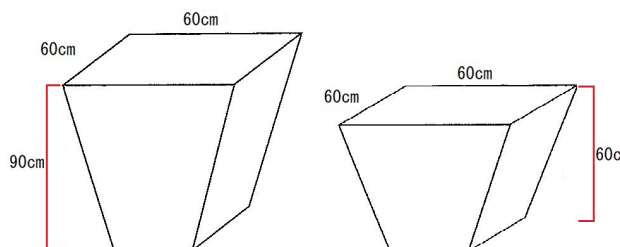

- If the work you wish to submit exceeds the specified scope, please submit it as documentation or make changes to the formation of the work.
- Please take your own measures to prepare for natural disasters, especially for works made of fragile materials such as glass.

Precautions for submitting two-dimensional works

- Works shall be submitted by hanging them on perforated panels installed at the venue, not on the walls.
- Hooks for hanging works on perforated panels may be borrowed at the venue if desired. However, please prepare the strings and screw eye bolts to be attached to the backside of the work in advance by yourself.
- For works that exceed the usable area of the perforated panel, weigh more than 5kg, have no place to hang, have a depth of more than 10cm, or are deemed unstable or unsafe, place the work on the floor (be careful not to make it dirty) and set it against the wall, taking care to prevent it from falling over.
- When you put up paper, posters, etc., apply double-sided tape, etc., on top of curing/masking tape to prevent damage to the panel surface.

*Subject to change when necessary depending on the status of the entrance examination.

Equipment available for loan from the University

Perforated panel(up to 6 panels) H180cm x W90cm x D65cm (height from floor: 233cm) *Processing (drilling, nailing, riveting, etc.) is prohibited. * Special hooks are available for borrowing.	Display stand (white) (up to 2 stands of each type) H90cm x W60cm x D60cm / H60cm x W60cm x D60cm *Processing (drilling, nailing, riveting, etc.) is prohibited.

Note:

Students who have completed the enrollment procedure but wish to withdraw from enrollment must complete the withdrawal procedure through their online application portal (My page) by Tuesday, March 23, 2027. All payments except the enrollment fee will be refunded in mid-April.

Tuition for the following year and beyond:

Tuition during the school year is a fixed amount based on the amount at the time of enrollment.

Reduction or Waiving of Tuition

Tuition reductions and exemptions may be available for those affected by disasters. In that case, it will be posted on the University's website.

* If the tuition reductions and exemptions are implemented for those other than the above, it will be announced on the University's website.

Enrollment

The campus on which you enroll in depends on your instructor.

Please refer to "Graduate School of Art and Design Doctoral Degree Program Instructors" on page 19 for the campus affiliation of each instructor.

Hachioji Campus (2-1723 Yarimizu, Hachioji, Tokyo)

Kaminoge Campus (3-15-34 Kaminoge, Setagaya-ku, Tokyo)

* International students whose "Certificate of Eligibility" or "Status of Residence 'College Student'" is not issued by the Immigration Service Agency after February 2027 will automatically have their admission cancelled. In addition, such students must obtain "Status of Residence 'College Student'" by April 1, 2027.

* International students who take entrance exams other than the international student selection exam, which takes place earlier, may not be able to obtain a "student" visa in time for enrollment. The university cannot be held responsible for this, so please understand this before taking the exam.

Please note that if your attendance rate at a Japanese language school is significantly low, you may not be eligible for the "Student" status of residence.

Thesis Guidance

The primary supervisor for the doctoral thesis will be determined from the list of "Graduate School of Art and Design Doctoral Degree Program Thesis Supervisors" on page 16~18, after consultation between the applicant and the Graduate School Research Office. The secondary supervisor will be determined from among the faculty in the Graduate School, based on the student's own wishes and in consultation with the Graduate School Research Office.

Handling of Personal Information

The University will use personal information (address, name, date of birth, etc.) collected at the time of the 2027 entrance examination for the purpose of conducting the entrance examination, announcing successful applicants, enrollment procedures, and related work. In doing so, we will take necessary and appropriate security control measures to prevent leakage, outflow, or unauthorized use of such personal information.

If you have any questions about the handling of personal information, please contact the Admissions Section.

Notice

All entrance examination works are the property of the university and will not be returned.

Works submitted by successful applicants (including submissions and portfolios) may be used in the following ways:

- Included in university-issued materials
- Publicly exhibited
- Published on the university's website and other media

Graduate School of Art and Design Doctoral Degree Program Thesis Supervisors

Name	Profile
Professor Tetsuya Oshima	Born in Aichi Prefecture in 1973. Graduated from the University of Tokyo, Faculty of Letters, Department of Art History. M.A. in Humanities and Sociology of the University of Tokyo. Ph. D. from the Graduate Center of the City University of New York. Ph. D. (Art History). He served as chief curator at the Aichi Prefectural Museum of Art and associate professor at the Graduate School of Integrated Arts and Sciences, Hiroshima University before assuming his current position. Director of the Tama Art University Museum. His area of specialization is modern and contemporary western art history. While Jackson Pollock research has been his life's work, in recent years he has focused on abstract expressionism research. In the future, he also intends to embark on an art and culture theory study of the city of New York. He is the co-author of Ille ont regardé Matisse: Une réception abstraite, États-Unis / Europe, 1948-1968 (Musée départemental Matisse, 2009). His major co-translations include Clement Greenberg, "Greenberg Critical Selections" (Keiso Shobo, 2005). Major exhibitions planned/supervised include "A Centennial Retrospective: Jackson Pollock Exhibition" (Aichi Prefectural Museum of Art and The National Museum of Modern Art, Tokyo, 2011-12) and "Barnett Newman: The Stations of the Cross—Lema Sabachthani" (MIHO MUSEUM, 2015).
Professor Momoe Kanazawa	Momoe Kanazawa specializes in Western medieval art, particularly Romanesque art and Christian Iconography. She studied at the University of Tokyo (took PhD in Ecology and Art History) and the Courtauld Institute of Art, London. After teaching for eleven years at Tokai University, she joined Tama Art University in 2020 and the Institute for Anthropology of Art and Design in 2021. Her interest ranges from arts to crafts as an Editorial Board member of Kogei Seika . Her publications Cosmographica Romanica: Reading the Tapestry of Creation in Girona (The University of Tokyo Press/Tokyo, 2008) and The Romanesque Art Revolution (Shinchosha/Tokyo, 2015) were awarded the Kinji Shimada Memorial Prize and the 38th Suntory Prize for Social Sciences and Humanities, respectively. Her comprehensive research on Romanesque art in Italy is published as a series, The Pilgrimage to Italian Churches (3 vols.). Her essay on Romanesque art continues in a series of articles in Kogei Seika . For more information on her research activities, see Researchmap.
Professor Kyoko Kinoshita	Recent research themes: "Research on Sugito-e in castle gardens," "Research on double-sided folding screens," "The formation and development of Genji-e in the Kano School," "The formation and transition of Japanese art collections in America." Thoughts on graduate education: "Completing a doctoral degree program and writing a dissertation are important tasks that will have a lasting influence on your life. We would like to work together with each student on their chosen research subject and production theme to make the short three-year period of study meaningful." Academic background: Completed the course in Japanese Art History, Graduate School of Letters, Osaka University. Doctor of Literature. Activities: Planning and organizing international exhibitions on Japanese art such as "The Arts of Hon'ami Koetsu, Japanese Renaissance Master," "West Meets East: China and Japan at the Centennial Exhibition," "Ike Taiga and Tokuyama Gyokuran: Japanese Masters of the Brush," "Kanō School," "The Tale of Genji," and "Hyakusen Sakaki," and participating in symposiums and lectures. Co-authored: Ike Taiga and Tokuyama Gyokuran Japanese Masters of the Brush (2007, Yale University Press), Ink and Gold: Art of the Kano (2015, Yale University Press), etc.

Name	Profile
Professor Yutaka Nakamura	He specializes in cultural anthropology/design anthropology. With the U.S. and Japan as his immediate field of study, he is working on topics such as violence and social suffering on the "margins," mechanisms of discrimination and assimilation, anti-/de-violence efforts, artistic and cultural movements, and social design. In the U.S., he is particularly interested in the narratives, artistic and cultural expressions, and cultural construction efforts of African Americans, Muslims, indigenous peoples, and "culture creatives." In Japan, he is particularly interested in the "crisis" after March 11, 2011 and the social trends and cultural practices that have responded to it. In 2022, he founded Atelier Anthropology LLC., a design firm based on anthropology, and is working on social implementation with various companies, designers, and managers. Message to Graduate Students: "Let us not forget the meaning of studying art and design at university. Let us earn the delicacy of words, continue to develop our senses, and create "culture" together." Academic background: Doctor in Sociology, Graduate School of Social Sciences, Hitotsubashi University. Work experience: He has been a part-time lecturer at Kanto Gakuin University, Musashi University, Chuo University, Meiji Gakuin University, Bunka Gakuen University Graduate School, Hitotsubashi University Graduate School, and others. He is the author of Around the Periphery of America: Traveling Anthropology (Heibonsha, 2021) and Reverberating Harlem: The Voices of Muslims Living on the Streets (editorial republica, 2015). He is the editor of Lectures on Art: Behind Creativity (Kobundo, 2016) and Lost and Found (Ningengaku-kobo, vol. 1-5, 2013- 2018). His major articles include "Art, Witchcraft, and Cults: An Allegorical Letter on Tatsuya Mori's 'A'," Bulletin of the National Art Center, Tokyo (No. 3, 2016); "Archives and Its Discontent: The Struggle over Identity among African Americans," Cultural Anthropology (No. 78 (2), 2013), "The Harlem Writers Crew as a Cultural Movement: In Search of the Nodes of Anthropology and Art," Bulletin of Tama Art University, 2013, Community in Crisis: Language and Action among African-American Muslims in Harlem (doctoral dissertation, 2008), etc. He is the translator of The Uptown Kids: Struggle and Hope in the Projects by Terry Williams & William Kornblum, (Otsuki Shoten, 2010).
Professor Yoshiharu Hamada	What is the sense of "new" for people? With the design of objects as its core, he explores methods to bring newness, its meaning and value, including tradition and technology, universal design, and the state of objects in a recycling-oriented society. Biography: Professor, Department of Product and Textile Design, Tama Art University. After working as an in-house designer in sports product development and branding, he established Studio Galleryworks. He has served on the jury of the Good Design Award. Industry-academia cooperative research projects in which he has been involved include UNIQLO's "Unknown and Future," NIKE's "Mass Craftmanship," Camper's "Creative Sensors," Kuraray's "Material perception," 3M's "Potentia," and Nestle's "COFFEE EXPERIENCES," etc. Participated in the Grants-in-Aid for Scientific Research project "International Comparison on Theory and Practice of Advanced Universal Design Methods" (2013-2016). Worked on JST's CREST "Ultrafast, Ultra-low Power, Ultra-large Area Electrochromism" (2017-2021) with NIMS, Waseda University, and the National Institute for Advanced Industrial Science and Technology (AIST). Area advisor for JST's ACT-X "Hardware for Resilience: The Future of Hardware for Resilience in Real Space" (2021-). Currently, as project leader, he is promoting "Design for disposal," which aims to build a recycling-oriented society, with five collaborating companies.
Professor Hiroaki Matsuura	Recent research themes: analyzing the situation surrounding Italian medieval and Renaissance art from various perspectives, and how we can apply the information obtained from these studies to the present day. Thoughts on graduate education: I would like to support you, who wish to study more than you did as an undergraduate, as much as possible in your pursuit of art, a path that is not easy. Academic background: After graduating from Department of Aesthetics and Art History, Faculty of Fine Arts, Tokyo University of the Arts, he studied art history at the University of Florence and at the German Institute of Art History in Florence as a scholarship student of the Italian government. After working as a Research Fellow of the Japan Society for the Promotion of Science, he completed his doctoral studies at Tokyo University of the Arts. Work experience (before Tama Art University): Part-time lecturer at Juntendo University, Tokyo Kasei University, and Tokyo University of the Arts before moving to Tama Art University. Activities: In addition to his research activities, he promotes Renaissance art and the Italian language. Major books and translations include "Italian Renaissance Art Museum" (Tokyo Do Shuppan), "History of Italian Renaissance Art" (Kawade Shobo Shinsha), "Reading the Sistine Chapel" (Kawade Shobo Shinsha), "Dismantling the Altarpiece" (Arina Shobo), "Italian Renaissance Art Theory" (co-author, Tokyo Do Shuppan), "The Art of Florence" (co-translation, NHK Publishing), "Katsuhiko Hibino Works KATSUHIKO HIBINO" (Shogakukan), "Kaisoku Italiano (Rapid Italian Language)" (Goken), etc.

Name	Profile
Professor Ichiro Saga	Born in Nobeoka City, Miyazaki Prefecture in 1976. Associate Professor, Department of Graphic Design. After graduating from the Faculty of Policy Management at Keio University and working for a computer company, studied in the master's and doctoral programs at Joshibi University of Art and Design, and received a doctorate in fine arts (doctoral thesis title: "The Development of Typographic Printing Techniques Applied in Modern Newspapers in the Early Meiji Period"). Since then, he has been involved in historical research on design and typography, graphic design as a practice, and digital archive construction. He has been a full-time faculty member at Tama Art University since 2014. "I would like to take a unified and cross-sectional view of European, American, and Japanese design history in order to examine the history of typography, graphic design history, and digital archive construction, which are the themes of my research." Co-author, "Cultural History of Type Printing" (Bensei Shuppan, 2009), "The World of Kodoken Seichoji Type [Kodoken Seichoji-related materials owned by Joshibi University of Art and Design]" (Joshibi University of Art and Design, 2016), editor, "Word Form and Design Records" no.1, 2 (Joshibi University of Art and Design, 2013 and 2014), translator and commentary, "Wim Crouwel: Designing an Unseen Future" (BNN, 2012), supervised translation and commentary "Playful Seriousness, Serious Play, My Life Solution: Grid System as Aesthetics" (BNN, 2018), commentary "Packaging: Japanese Traditional Packaging, Its Origin and Design" (Consent, 2019), and supervised "Posters of the 20th Century [Landscape of Iconography and Text]" (exhibition catalog, Tokyo Metropolitan Teien Art Museum and Nikkei Inc. 2021), etc.
Associate Professor Shogo Shimizu	I specialize in philosophy, with interests in the philosophy of the self, space, and perception. I am also exploring ways to connect these philosophical areas to aesthetics. In addition to my academic research, I organise and facilitate philosophy cafés and philosophical dialogues with children. After receiving my PhD from the University of Warwick, I worked as a Project Assistant Professor at UTCP of the University of Tokyo and taught at several universities before assuming my current position at Tama Art University. I authored Philosophy from Scratch (3 vols., Chobunsha, 2026), Philosophizing Left and Right (Pneuma-sha, 2024), and The Magnificent Night (Pneuma-sha, 2020). I contributed chapters to the following books: A Guidebook to Picture Books for Children to Think and Discuss (Alpaca, 2023), From Existentialism to Metaphysics: The Philosophy of Stephen Priest (Peter Lang, 2021), Starting Philosophical Dialogue: A Philosophical Practice Handbook (Hituzi Syobo, 2020), Philosophy for Children in Confucian Societies (Routledge, 2019), and Diagnosing Bergson's Matter and Memory: New Developments in the Philosophy of Temporal Experience, the Science of Consciousness, Aesthetics, and Ethics (Shoshi Shinsui, 2017). I also co-supervised the Japanese translation of Matthew Lipman et al., Philosophy in the Classroom (Kawade Shobo Shinsha, 2015), and co-translated Barry Stroud's The Significance of Philosophical Scepticism (Shunjusha, 2006).

- Visiting Professor Toyo Ito
